THE COVER

Entitled "A Kansas House," this drawing illustrated an account of a Kansas summer vacation, "Ladies' Day at the Ranch," published in Harper's New Monthly Magazine, v. 71 (June, 1885), p. 10. The eastern author found the "adobe huts" in Kansas "wonderfully picturesque with flowers blossoming on the roof." Also in the mid-1880s another woman, a young wife and mother from Indiana named Flora Moorman Heston, was creating a home for herself and her family in southwestern Kansas. For her views of the delights and the difficulties of life on the sod house frontier, see the selection of her letters beginning on page 70 of this issue.
