

Tin cup

Object Card

The army did not provide plates, cups, or silverware so soldiers brought these pieces from home and carried them in their haversacks. Lead solders on the seams and joints of the tin cup contaminated soldiers' food, giving them an unhealthy dose of lead.

